Making Change Happen for Improved Performance

For all successful organisations leading and managing through change is relentless.

A thriving commercial sector, in both the private and public sector, with truly world-class leaders and with highly motivated personnel that drive innovation and research, is key to the performance, productivity and sustainability of UK businesses.

About us

Catalyst has delivering learning and development with every sector since 1995; helping to change behaviour; maximising individual and team performance to better reward the organisation, its stakeholders, personnel and customers.

From finance to education, hospitality to housing, the NHS to SMEs, corporates to colleges, public to private to the third sector, we have partnered with hundreds of leading organisations. We train and coach their people to change behaviour, learn and apply new skills, increase discretionary effort and to realise their full potential.

We motivate, encourage and enthuse your people with engaging, dynamic and sustainable learning, which values diversity, increased professionalism and improved commercial performance.

Developing and embedding new skills, raising both confidence and professional standards, we focus on turning learning into positive actions and beneficial outcomes.

We believe that the rewards for our clients are the consequence of their collective actions; working within a highly motivated environment to deliver exceptional customer outcomes.
